Editor's notes...

MARCH 2023

Brett Shohet, Editor

Hello and welcome to this month's edition of VISION Bishop's Stortford. I've always stressed the importance in business of going out and meeting new people. It's vital to make connections and be seen, because in this fast-paced world, if you're not putting yourself out there, you run the risk of being left behind.

Recently, my visits to local businesses have taken on a different tone. Our county is a mixed community of cultures and many of the people here are from or have connections in Turkey. Following the devastating earthquakes, some of them are having to continue with their daily lives and run their businesses, while fearing for the safety of family and friends overseas.

We are very resilient people here in Essex, and it's been wonderful to see how people have been pulling together to donate to charities and offer help in whatever way they can. My message to you is to be kind and caring, and to remember to be compassionate to what others might be going through.

With Mother's Day coming up on Sunday, March 19, it's a good opportunity to support our local businesses. Whether it's booking lunch at a local restaurant or buying flowers from a local florist, they are sure to appreciate your support.

The story of ST PATRICK

In the USA, some people celebrate St Patrick's Day not just by wearing green clothes, but also by drinking green beer or milkshakes and eating green bagels and grits. Chicago even dyes its river bright green. If you think all this sounds more American than Irish, you're spot on. People join in the parades and celebrations whatever their heritage, but about one in every 10 citizens in the USA claims to have Irish ancestors. So what's the real story behind St Patrick's Day on March 17?

St Patrick was born in Britain around 386 AD into a well-to-do Roman family. His birth name was Maewyn Succat, and he grew up on the west coast, probably in Wales. At age 16, he was kidnapped by pirates and taken to Ireland, where he was sold as a slave. His job was to look after sheep for his master, a Druid high priest.

During his time as a slave, Maewyn devoted himself to Christianity, his parents' faith, and became determined to convert pagan Ireland.

After six years in captivity, Maewyn persuaded some local sailors to let him board their ship. After landing in France, he made his way back to his family in Britain. And from there, he travelled back to France to train as a priest in Auxerre.

When he was ordained, Maewyn changed his name to Patricius – or Patrick – which comes from the Latin for 'father figure'. Then, Pope St Celestine sent him to Ireland to spread the Christian message.

At first, the Irish people weren't keen. Patrick was threatened, robbed and beaten. But his strategy of persuading the most influential people first, including his former slavemaster, eventually paid off. He also had the good sense to incorporate pagan rituals into church practices to make them more appealing. Over the years, Patrick and his fellow missionaries spread their teachings across the country and set up churches, monasteries and schools.

It's believed that Patrick died on or around March 17, 461 AD, when he would have been in his mid-70s. He died in Saul in County Down, Northern Ireland, and he's said to be buried in Downpatrick.

The Catholic church never formally declared him a saint, because the system for creating saints didn't start until the 12th century. But the Irish people and their leaders recognised him as one because of the decades he'd spent spreading the gospel.

The Irish have celebrated St Patrick's Day for more than 1,000 years. Traditionally, it involved donning a shamrock, going to church and tucking into a traditional meal of cabbage and bacon. But over the years, some St Patrick's Day fun from the USA has caught on back home. You won't find green beer – and certainly not green rivers. But there are plenty of lively parades, particularly in Dublin, with traditional singing, dancing and colourful floats.

Holi

THE FESTIVAL OF COLOURS

If you're lucky enough to experience the Hindu festival of Holi in India, it's an experience you'll never forget. People put aside their differences and come together to celebrate the end of winter and the beginning of spring, based on the Hindu lunar calendar.

This year's festival takes place on March 7 and 8 in India and among Hindu communities across the world. But what really happens at Holi, and how did it come about?

On Holi day itself, people take to the streets, singing and dancing and throwing powdered dyes and coloured water at each other – so it's no surprise that everyone ends up drenched in a rainbow of colours.

The colours of the dyes are significant. Red is associated with purity, green with vitality, blue with calm, and yellow with piety.

In the evening, when everyone's had a chance to freshen up and put on clean clothes, people visit their friends and exchange sweets.

In some places, people start celebrating the evening before Holi by lighting a bonfire. As a token of gratitude for the harvest, people throw coconuts, wheat sheaves and green chickpeas into the flames.

The bonfire tradition is based on the tale of a witch called Holika. She was burned to death in a fire by the Hindu god Lord Vishnu for trying to kill her devout nephew. To this day, some people burn an effigy of her on their bonfire.

The origin of the coloured dyes may lie with another Hindu deity, Lord Krishna. When he was a boy, he loved practical jokes, including throwing coloured water over his playmates.

But others say the custom comes down to Holi falling at a time of year when people are most at risk of catching diseases. Before the tradition of flinging around colourful dyes started, people threw herbs to keep ailments at bay.

Whatever the reason, Holi is definitely a time to celebrate life – and long may it last.

AN ICON departed

CELEBRATING THE LIFE OF FASHION FIGURE HILARY ALEXANDER OBE

In an era where there's so much that's nonsensical about fashion, Hilary Alexander OBE brought ingenuity and intelligence to the runway.

The former The Daily Telegraph fashion director passed away on her birthday – February 5 – aged 77, leaving behind a legacy of fashion that saw her decorate the industry with colour, charisma and humility.

Perhaps now more than ever before, we rely on commentators, journalists and designers who can knit the whole crazy operation together, and Hilary was undoubtedly one such person.

From working with the British Fashion Council, to the Council of Fashion Designers of America; from being heaped with praise by the likes of Michael Kors, Claudia Schiffer and Sir Philip Green; right through to appearances on TV, across Style Challenge, The Weakest Link and Britain's Next Top Model, there was nothing either beneath or above Hilary Alexander.

Born in New Zealand, Hilary moved to the UK as an adult and soon ascended to the role of fashion editor with The Daily Telegraph in 1985. As visiting professor at the University of the Arts London, she offered great influence over Central Saint Martins and the London College of Fashion at the turn of the millennium.

While malleable and respectful, Hilary was also someone willing to speak out. Her praising of Margaret Thatcher in 2013 as a "global style icon" was an expression of her desire to be honest and topical, more than it was a salutary piece of prose designed to create conjecture in the wake of the former Prime Minister's death.

Hilary's infectious influence reached every style, design and demographic – someone the industry truly celebrated and admired. And she will continue to do so, even after her passing.

IN HONOUR OF NATIONAL NO SMOKING DAY ON MARCH 8, HERE ARE SEVEN TIPS ON HOW TO QUIT SMOKING FOR GOOD

BE PREPARED

It's unlikely you'll simply wake up one morning and decide to never smoke again. Smoking is an addiction, so take time to come up with a plan that gives you the best chance of quitting for good.

the feeling of having achieved something important – will help you stop smoking.

DON'T GIVE UP

Quitting is hard. Know that and give yourself a break should you fail. Each day is a new day, and it is never too late to stop.

SEEK ALTERNATIVES

Though they may be tempting, e-cigarettes are not the ideal way to quit, as they still contain nicotine. However, they are less harmful than tobacco cigarettes.

REWARD YOURSELF

Put away those pounds you would have spent on cigarettes and you'll soon see the benefits. Treating yourself to something special is the least you deserve for persevering with such a difficult task.

Nicotine replacement therapy, on the other hand – in the form of gum, lozenges and patches – can help with withdrawal side effects.

BE TRIGGER AWARE

If you crave a cigarette every time you have a few drinks at the pub, it may be best to stay home or, even better, hit the gym. Knowing what makes you want to smoke and then doing the opposite is a useful technique to help you avoid temptation.

TELL YOUR FRIENDS

Not only is it reassuring to have some enthusiastic cheerleaders on your side, but your buddies can also help you on your way.

KNOW YOUR REASONS

Whether you want to run a marathon or are motivated to quit for the sake of your young children, having a clear purpose – from health to finance to

LET THERE BE LIGHT!

Do you want younger-looking skin? Then you need to know about LED light therapy. Originally used to treat wounds, LED – which stands for light-emitting diode – is now used by aestheticians to help regenerate ageing skin and treat other skin problems.

WHAT IS LED LIGHT THERAPY?

LED light therapy is a skincare technique that uses varying LED wavelengths to help treat a whole host of different skin complaints, including acne, inflammation and ageing skin. Unlike other types of light therapy, LEDs do not contain ultraviolet rays, which means they are safe for regular use.

HOW DOES LED LIGHT THERAPY WORK?

You can choose to have LED light therapy carried out by a trained professional or you can buy LED devices that you can use at home. There are two main types of light frequencies: red and blue. The former is used primarily for ageing and the latter to treat acne. Typically, each LED light therapy session lasts around 20 minutes, and, for best results, you need up to 10 treatments.

ARE THERE ANY DRAWBACKS TO LED LIGHT THERAPY?

Some of the potential downsides to LED light therapy include:

- > It can be expensive
- > The results are not guaranteed
- > It is not safe if you have an active skin disorder or take certain medications
- > Side effects are rare but may include redness, rashes and inflammation of the skin

Faux Flowers Galore

At this time of year, there aren't too many flowers in parks and gardens. Shop-bought faux versions can be just as beautiful as the real thing, but why not impress your friends and family by creating your own?

These stunning tissue-paper flowers are simple to make and an ideal family craft – though young children will need a bit of help.

You can make each flower from a single colour of paper – or choose two or more. Alternate the colours or stack batches of colours on top of each other. Making your tissue-paper florals is all about trying different things and deciding what you like best.

When you're done, display your flowers as they are or string them into a garland. If you make them with stems, simply arrange them in a vase.

YOU WILL NEED:

- > Coloured tissue paper: 8 pieces of 8 x 13cm paper for a medium flower | 10 sheets of 10 x 15cm paper for a large flower
- > Wire twist ties (if you don't need stems)
- > 50cm chenille sticks/pipe cleaners in green or brown (for the stems)
- > A pair of scissors

HOW TO MAKE:

1. Stack the pieces of tissue paper into a neat pile.
2. Plet the stack of paper into a concertina shape, starting at one of the long sides.
3. Use the twist tie or end of the chenille stick to tightly tie the middle of the paper strip.
4. Using the scissors, cut each end of the strip into a point or curve – or gently round them.
5. Carefully separate each layer of tissue paper.

TOP TIPS:

- > It's easier to cut the tissue paper rectangles as a stack rather than individually
- > When separating the layers, do one side first then the other
- > A mix of medium and large blooms works best if you're making a bunch of flowers.

TILE-tastic!

If you're looking for an affordable and highly effective way to update your kitchen, then installing new kitchen tiles is the way to go.

With so many different styles and designs to choose from, you are guaranteed to find something you love from our list below.

TONAL SHADES: Neutrals, greys and creamy whites remain a safe but sophisticated choice for your kitchen and promise to make this pivotal space look both fresh and clean. However, rather than sticking to just one colour, why not combine several tonal shades? Choose tiles with a naturalistic finish for a warm and welcoming atmosphere.

COLOUR BLOCKING: If you're not a fan of patterned tiles but you still want to make an impact, colour blocking is a great solution. Put a spin on your standard brick tiles by arranging them in horizontal, vertical or even diagonal stripes of colour. Alternatively, play around with different widths of coloured tiles on the floor to see what looks best.

EXPOSED BRICK: Add character to your kitchen with exposed brick-style tiles that are perfect for both feature walls and splashbacks. Much more affordable than using actual bricks, brick slips, which are tiles that are made to look like bricks, allow you to achieve the same look without breaking the bank.

HEXAGON TILES: If bright colours in your kitchen aren't your thing, then why not add an extra dimension by filling the space with different shapes? For example, white hexagon tiles can be used to create a sleek and contemporary look in a modern kitchen.

3D TILES: 3D tiles have seen a surge in popularity in recent years owing to their ability to add the wow factor to any style of kitchen. Choose from sharp geometric shapes, undulating wave patterns or more subtle textured tiles.

How to use LEFTOVER paint

Anyone who's decorated their home will know the dilemma of what to do with leftover paint. You'll often find tins left over after painting projects, which normally end up gathering dust (or rust) in your shed or garage.

So what should you do with all that leftover paint? Here are five ideas for some simple projects for your unused paint.

ADD A COLOURFUL ACCENT

While you might not have enough paint left over for a whole wall, you can use it to paint part of a wall. An accent behind some shelving, around a photo frame or simply to break up a block of colour can add a nice contrast to your walls.

UPCYCLE SOME FURNITURE

Leftover paint can be used to upcycle old furniture. From a pop of colour to a more neutral hue, your unused paint can bring a new lease of life to a piece in need of a facelift.

PAINT A PATTERN ON THE WALL

Patterned walls don't just have to come from wallpaper. From polka dots to lines and animal-style splodges, you can use your paint to create a cool contrasting pattern that will add some interest to your space.

GIVE PLANT POTS A MAKEOVER

Want to brighten up your plant pots? Use your leftover paint to give them a new look and instantly brighten up your garden and windowsill.

Adding a little colour to photo frames can make them stand out and is an ideal way to upcycle them, saving you some money and helping the environment too.

Finding ways to use up your leftover paint will help you prevent waste and help you do some interesting and colourful DIY projects around the home.

If you're planning to paint your walls white and buy a sleek grey sofa, it's time to rethink. After years of Scandinavian minimalism, things in the world of interior decorating are changing. So it's time to ditch those clean lines and cool colours – and plump for something warmer and more inviting instead.

Interior experts predict that brown-based colours, like caramel, coral and terracotta, are set to make a big comeback this year. Pastels are proving popular, too – especially dusky pink and soft greens.

If you're after new wallpaper or soft furnishings, there's an eighties vibe here, too. Think ditsy country florals, colourful gingham and tropical prints. Choose cushions with frilly edges. And instead of the hard lines of a minimalist sofa, opt for something chunkier, curvier and squishier instead. It's all so much cosier. While you're at it, don't forget to buy a rattan chair or two – and treat yourself to a glass-topped table.

If you want to put up some shelves, opt for brass ones, preferably with curved edges. To adorn the shelves, choose rounded vases and bowls. And if you can get hold of some eighties-style candlesticks, show them off by adding some twisted candles – they're easy to find and cost just a couple of pounds.

For those decorative touches, add a touch of macramé. This could be a wall hanging, lampshade or plant hanger. And talking of plants, check out the Maidenhair and Boston ferns in your local garden centre. You won't find many plants more reminiscent of the eighties than these.

Like any style revival, of course, there are some things you'll need to leave firmly back in the eighties. So don't revive anything that's yellow pine, think carefully before you decide to reinstate those frilly roman blinds, and whatever you do, don't lay carpet on your bathroom floor.

PETER JONES

AND A HOST OF TALL TALES

At 6ft 6", formidable Dragons' Den mainstay Peter Jones CBE has a lofty view over more than just his business landscape.

His is a stature that has evolved over four decades of being at the cut and thrust of business, on the way amassing a personal fortune of more than £1.2billion.

The idea of standing up to one of the formidable commercial minds in Dragons' Den is, ultimately, a thing few entrepreneurs relish. The hit BBC reality business show puts pitchers through their paces en route to a prospective investment offer, yet few who duel with telecoms wizard Peter Jones ever emerge victorious.

The 56 year old has been the only Dragon to appear in every season of the hit show, the 20th series of which is currently airing on BBC One.

He has mastered the art of pulling off a devastating look of utter incredulity, although the element of surprise is part of what makes the show so entertaining.

"Over so many years in business, there should be few things that surprise me," he begins, "and by now I thought I might have exhausted the ability to be surprised or shocked by some of the ideas or investment valuations that come my way.

"In truth, though, people will always surprise you, and that's what makes the show so entertaining. You can expect the unexpected, because it will always arrive."

That line perfectly encapsulates Jones's climb to becoming one of the country's most successful and best recognised entrepreneurs. Growing up in Langley, Berkshire, before moving to Maidenhead at the age of seven, his first business was in the production of personal computers, a venture he began at the age of just 16.

While the business excelled at first, the evolution of home computing in the 90s saw Jones lose ground. A series of bad decisions led to the collapse of his enterprise, and with it went his millionaire status. At 28, he was forced to sell the remnants of the company to IBM and start again.

Subsequently joining Siemens, he was soon branching out again by himself, launching Phones International Group in 1998, a business that garnered more than £14million in sales in its first year alone.

Further personal ventures in TV, retail and lifestyle projects have been supplemented with more than 60 investments via Dragons' Den – where Jones is regarded as the most plain-speaking and shrewdest on the panel.

"I think when it comes to business, it's important to be polite and engaging, but ultimately you can't hang about," he says. "If something needs to be said, it needs to be said, and tiptoeing around the issue has been the death of many a good idea."

As well as gaining a CBE in 2009, he runs The Peter Jones Enterprise Academy and The Peter Jones Foundation – both committed to driving and promoting the next generation of business minds, no matter what barriers exist in someone's life.

As for the most salient business lesson of them all – Jones insists there is nothing more defining than starting again from scratch. "Failure is arguably the best route to success," he says. Swimming club comes fourth in competition

Bishop's Stortford Swimming Club (BSSC) was awash with medals following the 2023 Hertfordshire County Championships last month.

The club earned 10 gold, 17 silver and 16 bronze medals alongside 109 top-eight finishes and ended in fourth place out of 19 clubs, just behind Hatfield, Watford and St Albans.

Alongside these were a substantial number of successes in relay for BSSC, as well as talented young swimmers deemed to be the best in their age group across the county.

Hundreds attend meeting to discuss project

Bishop's Stortford residents packed a local school to discuss alternatives to the controversial Old River Lane (ORL) development project.

More than 200 people attended the meeting, held at The Bishop's Stortford High School on Sunday, February 19. The event was organised by the ORL Working Group, made up of Labour, Liberal Democrats and Green local party members and representatives.

The ORL scheme was put forward by East Herts Council's (EHC) development partner Cityheart. It involves knocking down EHC's Charringtons House office block, Water Lane United Reformed Church Hall and three houses.

In their place, more than 200 homes, shops, offices and a cinema-led arts centre would be built. The original £30million centre with a 544-seat theatre was downgraded owing to the COVID-19 pandemic's impact on council finances.

In a letter written by the ORL Working Group and provided to residents to sign and send on to the council, it calls for "a halt on the present proposals, and to organise proper, full consultation with residents before embarking on any development".

It added that the plans for the 225 new homes contravene EHC's stated Local Plan policy, and that the plans fail to propose a replacement for the long-established community hall. It further added that the application "has no firm details about an arts centre and a public square".

EHC has been contacted for comment.

Warning over catalytic converter thefts

Police are warning car owners to remain vigilant following a spate of catalytic converter thefts in Bishop's Stortford.

In early February, the converters of four cars were tampered with or taken.

One incident involved a BMW Z3 in Bishop's Avenue sometime between February 1 and 6.

Two car owners reported converters stolen from their cars in Blacksmith Close and Stockmen Field on Thursday, February 2.

A converter was also taken from a car in Hayley Bell Gardens on Friday, February 3.

Converters are targeted by thieves because of the precious metals contained within them, as well as the relative ease it takes to steal one.

For more information on how to protect your car, visit www.herts.police.uk/cp/crime-prevention/keeping-vehicles-safe/catalytic-converter-theft

University and charity collaborate on display

A powerful exhibition about sexual violence recently went on display, organised in collaboration with the Bishop's Stortford-based charity Red Kite Rape and Sexual Abuse Support Service.

The What Were You Wearing? installation in Welwyn Garden City, curated by students and staff at the University of Hertfordshire, featured testimonies from victims of rape and sexual assault.

These testimonies appeared alongside a representation of what the victims were wearing when they were assaulted.

Loren Aliu, lecturer in criminology at the University of Hertfordshire's Law School, who helped to organise the exhibition, said: "I believe that this exhibition enables us to facilitate those difficult conversations regarding rape and sexual violence.

"We want to continue to challenge outdated perceptions of rape and we want survivors to know that help is available."

Siobhan Nundram, chair of the board of Red Kite, said: "Until and unless there is a huge culture shift, where the perpetrators of rape and sexual assault are treated with the same levels of revulsion as those who commit murder, there will still be a need for services such as ours."

Businesses encouraged to apply for council grants

Businesses across Bishop's Stortford can apply now for grants of up to £50,000 to boost investment and diversify their income.

A total of £523,000 is available to local businesses as part of East Herts Council's wider £1.7million UK Shared Prosperity Fund (UKSPF) allocation.

There are two routes through which businesses can apply: a grant of up to £5,000 to open or expand a trading premises or up to £50,000 to fund new activities. The grants must be match-funded by the business at 50 per cent.

UKSPF is a central pillar of the UK government's Levelling Up agenda, providing £2.6billion of funding for local investment by March 2025. The fund aims to improve pride in place and increase life chances across the UK by investing in communities and supporting local businesses, people and skills.

In East Herts, the remaining funds will be used to deliver the district's climate change and cultural strategies and to support improvements in town and village centres to drive footfall.

Councillor Jan Goodeve, executive member for planning and growth, said: "This fund is a fantastic opportunity for businesses across East Herts.

"The larger grants will make such a huge difference to businesses of all sizes, and so we are urging them to come forward and get in touch to find out more."

Community comes together to support earthquake appeal

Mayor of Bishop's Stortford councillor Dave Anderson has called for the town to provide aid and support to those affected by the recent earthquakes in Turkey and Syria.

At a meeting at the Skew Restaurant in Adderley Road on Thursday, February 16, Mayor Anderson looked to coordinate the town's response to the disaster and work with traders to come up with fundraising initiatives.

Those at the meeting were able to hear from local resident Elif Toker-Turnalar, who said the situation was much worse than it looked on TV and that the cold weather was proving fatal.

Mayor Anderson secured the use of the former Body Shop outlet in Jackson Square as a collection point for critical items such as sleeping bags and heaters.

Meanwhile, Hillmead Primary School in Bishop's Stortford passed on the thanks of members of the local Turkish community for the fundraising and donations, with three tonnes of items shipped via plane to Istanbul and then on to Adana.

Friends group meets with contractors over project

Friends of Castle Park hosted a talk with contractors on Wednesday, February 8, to enable members of the public to meet those in charge of the improvements to the popular green space in Bishop's Stortford.

As reported in VISION Bishop's Stortford January 2023 edition, the project, which has been beset with delays, has no fixed completion date, though organisers say work is now progressing.

A drainage issue over Christmas looked set to further delay the project; however, the issue was addressed and work soon began on the skating area.

Work across the park is progressing, with landscaping improvements around Waytemore Castle currently underway. Hedges will be replaced with traditional metal estate railings, putting the focus back on the castle itself.

A spokesperson for the Friends of Castle Park said: "The hedge, a relatively modern addition, has no historical significance. In contrast, the castle motte, a medieval fortification, is more than 900 years old."

Football club's bid for promotion heats up

Bishop's Stortford FC have maintained their promotion hunt to the National League South following five wins from seven, though they will need to progress past league rivals to secure their place in the league above next season.

At the time of VISION Bishop's Stortford going to print, Bishop's Stortford FC sit top of the Pitching In Isthmian Football League with a game in hand over second-placed Aveley.

Following a 1-0 win away over Bowers and Pitsea on Saturday, February 18, manager Steve Smith said that he was disappointed with the performance, but that getting 21 points from 24 available was phenomenal.

Of the club's 10 remaining fixtures, five are against teams in the top eight, including games against Aveley, Canvey Island and Hastings United.

Meanwhile, fan favourite Ben Marlow (pictured) returned from a long-term injury, coming on against Bognor Regis Town in the 57th minute after spending 11 months out owing to a knee problem. He was then sent on loan to East Thurrock United in a bid to regain his fitness.

GET wildlife READY

Our gardens start to bloom in earnest this month – but March can be a surprisingly tricky time for wildlife. That includes humble but helpful insects and worms, as well as bees, birds, amphibians and hedgehogs. So what can you do to help?

LEAVE FOOD FOR HEDGEHOGS

Leave out water and meat-based cat or dog food – ideally chicken in jelly. Do this when it's getting dark, and remember to throw away any uneaten food the next morning. If you have hedgehogs in your garden, you could also buy a hedgehog house or even build one.

FEED THE BIRDS

Birds need calorie-rich food at this time of year to get ready for breeding. Choose sunflower hearts (seeds without the husk), fat balls or suet pellets. Steer clear of peanuts just in case adult birds feed them to their young and cause them to choke.

BEE KIND

If you're adding new garden plants, choose ones with open flowers that are rich in pollen and nectar. Good choices include aconites, evergreen clematis, primroses, and winter-flowering heather and honeysuckle.

BUG LOVE

Helpful insects and even earthworms find it hard to flourish in March as food sources can be scarce. To help them, create a log pile in a shady spot. You might also want to start a compost heap. And, while you don't have to turn your garden into a jungle, insects will love it if you let a corner of your garden grow wild.

POND LIFE

March is the main breeding month for frogs, toads and newts. To make your pond amphibian-friendly, select the plants they like to breed around, such as marsh marigold, water forget-me-knot and brooklime. You could add plants such as hornwort and curled pondweed to keep the water oxygenated and help shelter tadpoles from predators.

A GARDEN IN WINTER

If you're visiting Sheffield this year, the multi-award-winning Winter Garden offers the chance to take a step away from the bustle of Britain's fourth-biggest city. It's wheelchair and buggy friendly, open every day except Christmas Day, and entry is free.

WHAT EXACTLY IS IT?

It's an exotic landscaped garden housed in a vast greenhouse with soaring arches and a glass roof. It houses around 2,500 plants, all originating from temperate climates in the Southern Hemisphere. There are also bedding plants, which are changed five times a year – so there's always something new to admire.

The Winter Garden is 75m long, 23m wide and 21m high – that's big enough to house 5,000 average domestic greenhouses.

And it's not just about plants – there's also an art gallery, a café and shops at the garden. So allow plenty of time for your visit.

The greenhouse was opened in May 2003 by the late Queen Elizabeth II, and was designed by London architects Pringle Richards Sharratt and Bath-based construction consultants Buro Happold.

WHAT TYPES OF EXOTIC PLANTS ARE THERE?

As well as a stunning bamboo curtain, lush tree ferns and elegant grasses, you can also feast your eyes on some of these:

- > Thorny acacia trees, which in their native habitat are an important food source for animals, including giraffes and elephants
- > Pines from the araucaria family, including monkey puzzle trees
- > Palm-like cordylines, often grown as houseplants in the UK
- > Desert plants like cacti, agave and aloe vera
- > Eucalyptus trees, mostly found in Australia and prized for their timber, the oil in their leaves and providing food for koalas
- > Low-growing phormiums, which are native to New Zealand and have elegant, sword-like leaves
- > Trachycarpus palm trees, known for their chunky trunks.

Pet DIET

Are you worried about your pet's weight? Perhaps you've allowed them to over-indulge during the winter months? With as many as half the nation's dogs and cats being overweight, it has never been more important for pet owners to take control of their pet's health and help them to lead a happy and healthy life.

Calculate calories: If you don't know how many calories your pet needs each day, then now is the time to find out. While you may think that you can simply refer to the recommended amount on their preferred pet food, this does not take into account metabolism, age and other factors such as activity levels. Ask your vet for a bespoke calorie allowance.

Measure meals: Many pet owners simply guess how much they are feeding their pet, or they offer an all-you-can-eat buffet and fill their bowls readily throughout the day. However, it is a much better idea to use a pet measuring cup so that you can make sure you give them the correct amount at each meal.

Tactical treating: If you are guilty of giving your pet a few too many treats, then tactical treating offers the perfect solution. This involves choosing low-calorie, no-sugar treats that are beneficial to their health. Carrots and apple slices are a good choice for dogs, and cats enjoy broccoli florets, green beans and catnip. Don't forget that you need to factor these extra calories into their total daily intake.

Experiment with exercise: When it comes to keeping your pet healthy and at their ideal weight, daily exercise is key. As well as daily walks for dogs and allowing your cat to explore in the garden, there are lots of other fun exercises you can enjoy with your pets, such as playing fetch, interacting with toys, tug of war and obstacle courses.

Signs your pet is overweight: Visual signs such as excess body fat around the stomach, spine and waist | Lack of grooming | Reduced mobility | Difficulty breathing.

CAMERA JARGON

Explained!

Want to improve your photography skills? Then spending time with a camera is a good place to start. While mobile phones are great for point-and-shoot, for the best photos a camera is required. At first glance, a camera can seem confusing with all its buttons and settings. Fortunately, we've got you covered with our simple guide to some basic camera terms.

Exposure: One of the most important terms to learn in photography. Getting the exposure right will help you take great photos with all of the elements in balance. Put simply, exposure is the amount of light that reaches your camera. Too much or too little exposure can affect the quality of your photo. The 'exposure triangle' is the combination of aperture, shutter speed and ISO that will help you capture the perfect photo.

Aperture: The hole that allows light into the lens, represented by the f-number. The lower the f-number, the more light is allowed into the lens. It's the aperture that helps you determine which elements of the shot are in focus, allowing you to play with your depth of field.

Depth of field: The distance between the closest and furthest subjects in a photo. A shallow depth of field will put your main subject in focus, creating a blurred backdrop for your subject to sit against. A deep depth of field helps to put the backdrop or landscape in focus, blurring the nearest object.

Shutter speed: Controls how much light is allowed into the camera from the lens. It signals how long the lens is open to capture the light. A low shutter speed is ideal for most situations, but when you are faced with fast-moving subjects (such as animals or sports) you'll want to use a high shutter speed to prevent blurring.

ISO: The ISO settings determine the light sensitivity. The higher the ISO, the brighter your images. A higher ISO may cause images to feature noise or grain, which can be more difficult to fix during the editing process than an underexposed shot.

Points to consider when purchasing a camera:

- > Rent or borrow a camera first to trial the settings.
- > Consider the size and weight to discover what's right for you. Mirrorless cameras are more portable with auto-focus features, while a DSLR has more changeable features.
- > For high-quality photos, look for cameras with the largest sensor size. Generally, the larger the sensor, the higher quality your photos will be.
- > A high number of megapixels (MP) will help to produce images that are highly detailed, but the downside to this is that they don't perform as well in low light. Something around the 20MP mark performs well for most situations.
- > Invest in a range of lenses to get the most out of your camera. A macro lens is ideal for detailed close-up shots, while a long lens will help you capture high-quality shots from further afield, such as landscapes or wildlife.

Capturing the perfect shot means finding the balance between the three key settings (aperture, shutter speed and ISO). Don't be afraid to experiment and get creative.

How to get A PATENT

Thinking about applying for a patent to stop others from copying or selling your invention without your permission? Find out everything you need to know about how to get a patent in the UK below.

WHAT CAN YOU PATENT IN THE UK?

To patent an invention in the UK, it must be:

- ✓ New – it must not have been made publicly available anywhere in the world
- ✓ Inventive – it cannot be an obvious change to something that already exists
- ✓ Something that can be made and used, a technical process or a method of doing something

WHAT CAN YOU NOT PATENT?

There are some things that you are not allowed to patent, including:

- ✗ Literary, dramatic, musical or artistic works
- ✗ A way of doing business, playing a game or thinking
- ✗ A method of medical treatment or diagnosis
- ✗ A discovery, scientific theory or mathematical method
- ✗ The way information is presented

- ✗ Essentially biological processes such as crossbreeding animals or plants
- ✗ Software that has a non-technical purpose

HOW MUCH DOES A PATENT COST?

When you apply for a patent, you must pay fees to the Intellectual Property Office (IPO) when you file your application and also for processing your application after you file. This costs at least £310 if you complete the process. You may also want to hire a patent attorney for help and advice.

HOW TO APPLY FOR A PATENT IN THE UK

Getting a patent in the UK is a fairly complicated process and it can take several years, even with professional help. Therefore, you should only start the application process if you are confident that your invention is new and that a patent meets your needs. If you decide to go ahead, then you need to:

- Prepare detailed documents that describe your invention
- File these documents with the IPO

Typically, around 18 months after you apply, the IPO will publish your application in full. You may then have to amend your application based on its recommendations.

THE HOT DRINKS hero

MEET THE MAN BEHIND THE INVENTION FOR HOT (AND COLD) DRINK LOVERS EVERYWHERE

The next time you unscrew your flask to pour a coffee, spare a thought for Scottish scientist Sir James Dewar. He was the man who made it happen – even though keeping your drinks hot wasn't what he had in mind.

Dewar, who died 100 years ago this month, was best known for his work on the liquefaction of gases. It's not the right place for a chemistry lesson, but when gases are in liquid form, they're much easier to store, so it was important work.

The problem was that Dewar couldn't keep the liquid gases cold enough for long enough to study them. And when they got too hot, they turned into gas again.

To solve the problem, he put his glass flask of liquid gas into a bigger flask. Then he created a vacuum between them and mirrored their outside walls. So the inside flask was almost perfectly insulated, and heat couldn't reach the liquid inside.

Dewar exhibited his creation at London's Royal Institution on Christmas Day 1892. The principle behind his flask is the same one behind the vacuum flasks manufactured today.

Dewar's invention could have made him a wealthy man. The problem was he didn't take out a patent. But the German glassblower who made Dewar's flask had an idea: he realised that the flask could keep liquids warm as well as cold and spotted a gap in the market. He created a flask in a protective metal casing and set up a company called Thermos – Greek for 'hot'. He successfully applied for a patent in 1904 – and the Thermos flask was born.

Dewar sued Thermos for using his invention. Sadly for Dewar, he lost the case. But, refusing to retire, he carried on working as a professor at the Royal Institution until his death at the age of 80 in 1923.

UNUSUAL SPORT... CHEESE ROLLING

A lump of dairy, a hill, an ambulance on standby – it's the Cooper's Hill Cheese Rolling Championship

UNUSUAL SPORT...

A lump of dairy, a hill, an ambulance on standby – it's the Cooper's Hill Cheese Rolling Championship

We've all heard of cheese rolling. Indeed, many of us have seen the frankly terrifying sight of grown men and women hurtling down Cooper's Hill in Gloucestershire on a balmy spring bank holiday in pursuit not just of a 9lb lump of Double Gloucester cheese, but also of the respect of the local community.

The annual event, which takes place on a slightly terrifying 200-yard slope in the town of Brockworth, has become iconic as the go-to cheese rolling event in the UK, yet it attracts competitors from all corners of the world.

While the perception is that anyone who catches the cheese takes the title, in truth this is a 'race to the bottom', with the first person across the finish line claiming the delightful dairy. Now classed as an extreme sport, there is a series of individual races for have-a-go heroes to compete and contort in, with local legend Chris Anderson the most successful participant in the event's near 200-year history, having won a record 23 races. Ironically, the ex-1st Battalion light infantryman doesn't even like the cheese on offer, insisting on a passion for cheddar instead.

Injuries are commonplace – not just to participants, either. On many occasions, spectators have been struck by the tumbling cheese, which can reach speeds of up to 70mph as it tumbles downhill.

While COVID-19 halted the 2020 and 2021 events, the festival returned in 2022, complete with all manner of sprains, bashes, aches and breaks. Perennial champ Anderson has since announced his retirement, clearing the decks for a new era of southwestern sadist when the event returns this year on Monday, May 29.

While Brockworth hosts the country's most famous competition, there are other cheese rolling events across the UK with their own take on the concept, albeit none quite as flavoursome.

DOUBLES, SINGLES AND MORE... ROAD MARKINGS AND HOW TO WORK THEM IN YOUR FAVOUR

We're all familiar with the sight of single and double yellow lines – yet where many of us have fallen foul of road markings, it's because we may not understand what they mean.

This guide to road markings may not make it any easier to find a parking space in your local area, but at least you'll know the risk you're taking when you apply the handbrake.

SINGLE LINES

Single yellow lines are an indication that waiting restrictions are in place, albeit only at certain times of the day. The intention is to eliminate congestion at busy times.

Always look for the accompanying signs, which will state the times when parking is prohibited. However, you may stop there.

If you see a single red line, stopping is also prohibited at certain times.

DOUBLE LINES

Parking on double yellow lines is prohibited at all times, unless there is accompanying signage which may indicate an ability to park there on rare or seasonal occasions.

With both single and double yellows, the good news is you get five minutes' grace, and a traffic warden must observe your car for the full duration of those five minutes before writing out a ticket.

If you see a double red line, the message is simple – no stopping (or parking) at any time.

ZIGZAG LINES

White or yellow zigzag lines offer the same instruction as double red lines, except they are placed near places of high public footfall, such as on level crossings or outside schools and places where emergency services may operate, such as hospitals.

LOADING OR UNLOADING

To confuse matters, loading and unloading is permitted on double and single yellow lines, but only if it's continuous. You'll get between 20 and 40 minutes, depending on your vehicle.

However, if two yellow stripes are seen emerging from the road and up the curb, even loading and unloading is prohibited. For one yellow stripe, stopping is permitted based on the times shown.
